Space and Surroundings

Woodyvu Stok house is a beautiful 100 year old ladakhi house, renovated twice. We renovated and refurbished it to give you all the comforts of modern amenities while keeping intact the essence of original ladakhi house.

The old lady living in the next door house, opposite the main gate originally came here as a young bride some 90 years ago in this ancestral house of Lhoskya family.

It took almost 2 years to renovate the house and bring it to the current status, retaining the original character of the house with a pooja room and flag post marking the east and west sides respectively.

It has a huge ladhakhi kitchen which is the heart of the house and a contemporary lounge where the travelers can interact with each other. You get 360 degree uninterrupted view of all the major attractions of Leh valley. Be it Stok Kangri, Stok Palace, Stok bodhi statue blessed by His holiness The Dalai Lama, Leh palace, Shanti Stupa, South Pullu to Khardungla top, Sabu village, Thiksey monastery and hill behind the house which is lit bright and warm with butther lamps every Losar.

Home Truths

This village is 12 kms from the main city (Approximately 20 minutes drive). Please don't expect any shopping hubs here. At Stok house we would want you to appreciate your time spent with nature, please do not expect modern amenities like a TV, Karaoke etc. We would like you to appreciate chirping of birds in the morning and bright sunlight. Stok house is a place where you see Wordsworth's Daffodils and other poems coming alive. Although we have stretched to provide you the best available BSNL plus a backup VSAT for the internet, being a remote place and a sensitive border area, please do not expect a hundred percent perfect wifi here. Winters here are harsh, dry, severe and sometimes unimaginable. Uninterrupted hot water supply is a luxury in winters which can not be guaranteed. We try our best to make it possible for you.
